FABLE FOR COMPUTER USERS...
from the Data Centers of Control Data Corporation

IN THE OLD DAYS... if you wanted to get the word, you talked to the Delphic Oracle...

...but you had to go to Delphi to get it.

LATELY. . . things have been pretty much the same . . .
if you wanted to get the word, you talked to the Computer* . . .

Maybe the biggest and fastest available, the 131K Control Data 3600 at the Minneapolis Data Center.

... but you had to go to Minneapolis to get it.

Or Washington or Santa Barbara where 3600's of almost equal power are available.

NOW Control Data has fixed it so you can talk from almost anywhere to the largest, fastest computers available to the public. They are available by DATAphone* from any of our Data Centers—or even from your own office (if you use a DATAphone terminal). And DATAphone speeds are fast—more than 20 times the speeds that people talk.
